

Heart to Heart:

A Doctor's Advice to Women about Heart Health

By Barbara Moront M.D.

If you were to ask a group of women what they would most likely die from, most of them would say cancer, and probably “breast cancer.”

In reality, more than six times as many of them will die from coronary artery disease (CAD), meaning heart attacks and strokes, as from breast cancer.